

It is frightening to me when large media conglomerates can control the public air waves for their own self-interests. This is the case with Sinclair Broadcasting's attempt to air a biased political documentary on all of its stations right before the presidential election.

Please keep our media from being ruled by a few corporations. Keep media ownership rules stringent. If not, the public air waves will no longer truly reflect the public interest.